An in-depth examination of how spiritual growth happens within a faith community.

The premise behind A Primer on Structure and Protocol is as the title suggests: "a guide for fellowships, prelates, protocol officers, and certain other pastors." A primer is a textbook created broadly for teaching or presenting some of the basic elements of a subject. The impetus to write this book came from things I have observed in the past few years that created in my spirit the burning need to be the "iron that sharpeneth iron." I love the Body of Christ, and want to see all of its servants succeed; and avoid the pitfalls that have toppled - or nearly toppled - other Fellowships, including the place where I currently serve. Even though the approach to each topic/chapter in this book might seem to have been hypothetical, everything I have written has been based on something I've observed, firsthand. The recommendations originated with the basic question, "What would I do, in that situation?" Writing them down, my objective was to provoke you to ask the same question. If the end-result of this book is that we end up with better "Fellowships" - LEGENDARY Fellowships - then we will have done what we set out to do.

This book is an extraordinary resource that inspires us all to think beyond ourselves. Eric Capehart has demonstrated the power of mentorship and has literally touched countless lives through his selfless service. I've watched him over the years pour into others and I am convinced he is well qualified to speak on this issue. This book is necessary and timely. Miracles indeed are happening every day. This book reveals how they happen one life at a time. Thank you Eric for the courage to write it and the compassion to live it. Bishop Joseph Warren Walker, III Senior Pastor, Mount Zion Baptist Church Nashville Presiding Bishop, Full Gospel Baptist Church Fellowship International *100% of proceeds from this book go towards mentorship programs at All The King's Men, Inc. in Nashville, Tn."

For the past seven years, I've been privileged to share 'The Maximize Moment with Dr. Lisa Weah' each Sunday with Elder Derryck Fletcher and Gospel Grace's Morning Show hosts on Morgan State University's WEAA 88.9FM radio station. These moments are more than just a thoughtful pause, but they are an inspiring, insightful look at current events and every day occurrences through the eyes of active faith. Each look then prompts a response to God - for faith without works is dead. So, enjoy this latest volume forty day journey, beloved, for each one comes with a new challenge or charge. Let us grow together as we go together! The journey to a Maximize Life starts anew with Day One!

Don't treat the consequence. Treat the cause. This book will help you gain a greater understanding of the issues that are consuming your life and will guide you toward living a life of social, emotional, and spiritual wellness. Through Jesus Christ we have the ability to be completely free of the emotional, social, and spiritual struggles that have us bound. But to experience lasting change we must stop dealing only with the symptoms and get to the root issue. In Restored at the Root, Dr. Joseph W. Walker III shows readers how to break free of demonic attack for good by teaching them how to do the following: Identify the demonic activity beneath their emotional, social, and spiritual turmoil Understand the authority they have to cast out demons Find the courage to confront the issue instead of trying to camouflage it Charismatics tend to deal with life issues only from a spiritual perspective. This book goes a step further by discussing the intersection between spiritual authority and clinical spiritual counseling. That way, readers can identify underlying issues at work, which can help save their lives, marriages, and ministries.

"Whatever It Takes" is specifically designed for every pastor, worship leader, choir member, and musician who is serious about taking corporate worship to another dimension of spiritual encounter. All over the world the faithful gather in places identified as the house of the Lord in hopes of experiencing the manifest presence of God. Our songs, prayers of invocation, and overall liturgy are a continuous effort to this end, acknowledging that there is always more of God to be experienced. The question is: Do we really want another dimension of spiritual experience? And if so, are we willing to do whatever it takes?

You pray. You have faith that God will answer your prayers in specific way. Then God answers your prayers. However, He does things differently than you asked and anticipated. So how are we to handle it when it God's plan for our lives conflicts with our plan for our lives? What do we do when God doesn't do what we want, when we want, and how we want? In this book, the Old Testament character Naaman will teach us both the wrong way and the right way to handle it when God doesn't do things our way. It's very likely that you'll find yourself on the front seat of Naaman's emotional roller coaster. It's probable that as you read Naaman's words that you'll hear your own voice as you recall certain situations in your life. Read this book and assume the position of a student and consider Naaman as your teacher. You'll learn valuable insights into walking by faith as God moves in your life however He chooses.

Elder Bertha M. Greene is the Founder and Pastor of Sacred Zion Full Gospel Church in Baltimore, MD. She currently serves as State Overseer for the Full Gospel Baptist Church Fellowship of Maryland, under the leadership of Bishop Paul S. Morton. In From The Cradle To The Pulpit, Dr. Greene intimately shares her personal story on how God took her from harvesting cotton as a little girl in the scorching hot fields of North Carolina to harvesting souls for His glory in pulpits across the country. Bertha Greene has been commissioned to help the fallen be raised to stand and even through the many trials of her own life; including losing her only biological son, she has remained steadfast in her call and her duty to minister Gods Word to the lost. Her life is a true testimony that no matter how hard life gets, when God has a Call on your life, nothing is impossible!

Our world isn't slowing down, so only those who are willing to maneuver the tectonic cultural shifts will have sustainable ministry. From his extensive experience and using the biblical story of Joseph as an extended metaphor, Bishop Joseph Walker shares practical wisdom designed to help leaders reach out and equip their church to share a relevant Christian message.

Joseph W. Walker III is bishop of Mount Zion Baptist Church of Nashville, Tennessee. Under his leadership and over a span of twenty years, the church has grown from 175 to more than 28,000 members. During this time, Bishop Walker has seen people struggle to embrace the new things God is doing; and he fully appreciates how change heightens the demands of leadership. Shifting approaches to follow where God leads can also mean that leaders have to risk confronting cherished tradition, which Bishop Paul Morton calls "frozen success." But shifting to meet new opportunities is also a delicate balance that acknowledges history while also being sensitive to those loyal people who have sustained the organization to this point.

Effective leadership does not impose new ideas upon old systems without a strategy that enables everyone in the organization moving forward together. It's not simply, "out with the old and in with the new." Successful organizations do not forget their history, but they commit themselves to using it as a bridge to propel them to their destiny.

You need to know your weaknesses because they know you! Temptations-this is one thing that truly needs no introduction. If you're alive and breathing, by now, you've already been introduced to temptations. Temptations are everywhere. You can't stop temptations from coming to you, but you can stop yourself from going to them! This book pulls the covers off temptations, while covering you with truth, knowledge and strength. Temptations are inevitable. You are going to have them, but the key is, to make sure they don't have you!"Therefore let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall." 1 Corinthians 10:12 (NKJV)

Bishop Eddie Long, the pastor of one of the largest churches in Atlanta, confronts the modern American church as being self-centered, introverted, and more interested in entertainment than in ministry. But he doesn't simply indict the church without giving answers. Taking Over includes Long's innovative--and sometimes controversial--ideas, which are causing city leaders to look to him, and to God, for answers. This unprecedented book will bring the church into the new millennium, ready to reign and bring God's solutions to society's problems. This book is full of wisdom and advice from a respected Christian couple. There's a lot more to marriage than saying "I do." It is a commitment made by two people before God. In general, we all know what marriage is, but this book takes us a step further.

The Total Man is the prescription, prescribed by God, for a dying generation of men. The Total Man will inspire you, challenge you and launch you into your God given destiny. You'll never be incomplete another day in your life. There's no greater privilege, no greater honor than being a man. And there's no greater battle than the battle of striving to become a man of God. For years you cried inside as you carried your family, bills as well as your internal affairs. But through these pages God wants to carry you back to His original plan, purpose and intent for your life. Through chapters such as: Come Forth, Righteous Whores, Take Charge and Regaining the Family, allow God to deliver, redeem and reposition you for the plan He has for your life. And that plan is nothing less than becoming God's man- The Total Man that He created you to be!

I stood at the front of the church to greet the congregants. To my far left I observed a young woman standing there. She desperately wanted to be free from her past. When she approached me, I extended my hand and gave her a smile. To make her feel comfortable I sat down on the steps that lead to the pulpit and I asked her to join me. She agreed and the conversation began. In this woman, I experienced the frustration of trying to help someone so broken. I had never seen anyone so emotionally fragile. Many days I felt inadequate to help her. With that feeling, I cried a lot. Every time I felt like really throwing in the towel, I continued to hear Jesus say to me "if you walk away now, you are saying she is not worth it and Calvary wasn't enough." Each time I heard that, it pierced the core of my soul. Throughout this book, you will read entries from her personal journals. The entries represent the voices of many individuals in this world who are trapped by their past and held captive by their present. We've been soothed for far too long. Finally, it's time for you to be healed.

It takes two. Even if men aren't from Mars and women aren't from Venus, they still have different takes on what make a relationship work. In this he says—she says book, Bishop Joseph Walker and his wife Dr. Stephaine Walker tell you how to know when you're in love and ready to take that next step of commitment.

This dynamic and successful couple will also dialogue about the place of intimacy, carving out time for each other, and the importance of creating a spiritual life together in order to make significant and lasting decisions. They will also talk about the values necessary to keep couples together in this temptation-laden culture.

Scott pens a biography of Bishop Odis A. Floyd, 2nd Presiding Bishop, Full Gospel Baptist Church Fellowship. (Christian)

It is a guide that assist in dealing with the pain in one's past to enable the privilege of living the abundant life.

The Christian Church has transformed itself many times since its tenets took root and after the mostly violent deaths of the original apostles. Consequently, the contemporary church may resemble the original intent of its apostolic fathers only slightly and may have subsequently assumed an identity and life of its own. The original footprint of the first-century church could not easily fit the church, as it has evolved after coming through reformations, denominations, attacks by rival religions, and the tactics and tenets of Christian zealots, theological debates, and fairly exhaustive apologetics. The intent of this book is to navigate the reader through the murky waters of theological distortions and religious bias to the calmer and clearer seas of divine intent and purpose. The 49 Purposes of the Christian Church is not a comprehensive treatise on the purposeful design of the Christian Church from any denominational bias or perspective; however, it does lend itself to the basics of evangelism and congregational order as defined or implied in New Testament scripture. Bishop Earnest L. Palmer

Find your purpose for living through loving. Finding the love you need will only happen when you discover your true purpose for living. Bishop Joseph Walker's Date with Destiny will help you help you fit your plans into the deeper and richer plan God has for you. Only then will you be able to get your relationships right. Bishop Walker gives you the tools you need to fit the pieces of the relationship puzzle together. He shows how to embrace the concept that God means for all of us to have satisfying relationships. "This book sheds light on the power of purpose in relationships for couples. Why does God bring us together? Is there a purpose bigger than us? To these questions, I would argue, YES! When two people understand their purpose in life, it becomes a qualifier for healthy relationships. God merges their individual purposes so that they compliment, not compete with each other." from the book

Inspired by his own battle with depression, the author Dacari J. Middlebrooks takes us on a journey through what it's like to battle with depression from a Millennial state. Over the course of the book, you will discover how PTSD, Severe Depression, and Significant losses have aided in what he calls "Mental Disruption," losing the capacity to believe, and think positively about life. It is the author's hope that those battling with depression; particularly Millennials will find inspiration in his story, seek treatment, and survive the unmet expectations levied against them.

"When A Father Fails" is the life story of an urban pastor who was a public image but a private failure. Follow his journey as he honestly shares the reasons for his failure and his struggle to overcome his past transgressions. This book was written as a salute to all children who strive to overcome their father's own failures in their life. This book is also intended to lift the spirit of those wounded by life and to encourage every invisible father to pursue reconciliation with their children today.

This book will help parents create a nurturing environment for Christian growth and assist in the development of dynamic disciples for Jesus Christ while children are still at home. It will also promote family values and activities that will leave a lasting legacy for generations to come.

This is straight talk and teaching. Bishop Joseph W. Walker III draws on scripture to describe five ways for men and women to give and receive the kind of love that leads to what we all want--a fulfilling committed relationship. These steps include how to be ready for a holy hookup, meeting the standard, being real, being on the same team, and living to the glory of God together. "A long-lasting, loving, intimate relationship is a beautiful thing. I should know because I've been blessed with two. The day I married Dr. Diane Greer was one of the happiest days of my life... But that did not last because Diane died a few years later... This past year I married Dr. Stephaine Hale. It was a day I will never forget. God gave me the desires of my heart and proved to me that He is a restorer... I am convinced that that day began the best days of the rest of my life... Because I've been there, I also know that relationships take work. They don't just happen. They are give and take propositions... But after all the fluff is brushed away, there are five basic steps in this journey of getting together and staying together." from the book

He Didn't Marry the Bishop is a book for individuals that are ready to face and admit the mistakes of their past while determined not to allow what happened then to decrease the power and possibility of what is happening now! Too often people share their glory without the details of the painful story. La'Tresa decided to share the good, the bad and the ugly of her life, believing it would pull and/or push people into owning their truth in a non-apologetic manner because there is a difference between bragging and being delivered!!! This book deals with mental and emotional bondage that is very seldom talked about regarding those in leadership but has the ability to rule one's destiny if not dealt with. He Didn't Marry the Bishop is an amazing tool for those that are simply tired of playing the pretend game of having it all together while hiding behind their faith. This book is La'Tresa's candid outline of what it means to expose your faults and still lead the crowd, as opposed to getting lost in it. Too often leaders are leading while bleeding and no one challenges the stains of their errors. Freedom begins when you face the very things that you've been keeping secret.

This book encapsulates the seminal work Bishop Johnson first presented to the School of Ministry for the Full Gospel Baptist Church Fellowship in July 1995. The content has been revised, so as to impart to the leaders of the 21st century church; particularly pastors and elders; territorial overseers; auxiliary leaders; bishops; apostles; and prophets.

This devotional was placed on my heart to share with readers like you as you endeavor to achieve all that you can in this life. The only way that we will fulfill God's will is by spending time with Him.

Have you ever sat in the pews of your church, observed an unfavorable or seemingly insensitive response to a situation, and asked the question, "Why did they do that?!" Did the situation somehow rub you the wrong way and leave you sad, angry or in shock? After you asked the question, did you ever seek an answer? It's so easy for us to blame it on "them," isn't it? In my many years of ministry experience, I've asked myself this question more than I would like to admit. What I discovered is that as a casual visitor it would be okay for me to ask this question. As a member or ministry leader, I should know the answer. Why Did We Do That?! serves as a practical tool to assist in the discovery and evaluation of why we do what we do. Everyone from the pulpit to the back pew who actively engages in this experience with their leadership will gain a fuller understanding of their church's mission, values and beliefs that impact every person who enters your church doors.

Critical Collaboration is about the critical need for partnership between pastors and mental health professionals in service to urban African American communities. While the historically African American church has done commendable work in its virtually exclusive role as emotional caregiver, there is a disproportionate susceptibility to certain mental illnesses in the African American community, which calls for a collaborative effort to advance the cause of holistic health. Critical Collaboration provides historical, socioeconomic, theological, and psychological contexts that serve to increase the awareness and cultural competence needed to bridge the gap between the professional communities of faith and mental health.
