Field Manual (FM) 3-34.400, "General Engineering," is the primary implementing manual for the engineer function that bears its name (the others being combat and geospatial engineering). This manual provides general engineering (GE) doctrine for the United States (U.S.) Army and U.S. Marine Corps. As the implementing manual for the engineer function of general engineering (GE), FM 3-34.400 describes the operational environment (OE) and how to apply and integrate GE principles in support of full spectrum operations and the linkage of GE to assured mobility. This FM focuses on the establishment and maintenance of lines of communications (LOCs) and sustainment operations that support operational requirements throughout the area of operations (AO). FM 3-34.400 is designed primarily to assist Army engineers at all echelons in planning and coordinating GE operations at the strategic, operational, and tactical levels. It is also a resource applicable to Department of Defense (DOD), joint, and other Army organizations and agencies that have a role in supporting, establishing, and/or maintaining the infrastructure required to conduct and sustain military operations. It is the primary manual to define the engineer function of GE. FM 3-34.400 is applicable across full spectrum operations. This includes the four types of Army operations (offense, defense, stability, and/or civil support) across the spectrum of conflict (peace, crisis, and war). This FM recognizes the need for joint interdependence and the reality that operations will frequently be performed in a joint, interagency, and multinational environment.

Every step in the business bankruptcy litigation process is covered in Aspen Publishers' Bankruptcy Litigation Manual, from the drafting of the first pleadings through the appellate process. In fact, by making the Bankruptcy Litigation Manual a part of your working library, you not only get detailed coverage of virtually all the topics and issues you must consider in any bankruptcy case, you also get field-tested answers to questions you confront every day, such as: How to stay continuing litigation against a corporate debtor and its non-debtor officers? What are the limits on suing a bankruptcy trustee? Is the Deprizio Doctrine still alive? Does an individual debtor have an absolute right to convert a case from Chapter 7 to Chapter 13? What prohibitions exist on cross-collateralization in financing disputes? Are option contracts and "executory" for bankruptcy purposes? When, and under what circumstances, may a bankruptcy court enjoin an administrative proceeding against a Chapter 11 debtor? What are the current standards for administrative priority claims? When must a creditor assert its setoff rights? When can a remand order issued by a district court be reviewed by a court of appeals? What are the limits on challenging pre-bankruptcy real property mortgage foreclosures as fraudulent transfers? Can an unsecured lender recover contract-based legal fees incurred in post-bankruptcy litigation on issues of bankruptcy law? Is there a uniform federal limitation on perfecting security interests that primes a longer applicable state law period, thus subjecting lenders to a preference attack? Do prior bankruptcy court orders bar a plaintiff's later state court suit and warrant removal of the action in federal court? Michael L. Cook, a partner at Schulte Roth and Zabel LLP in New York and former long-time Adjunct Professor at New York University School of Law, has gathered together some of the country's top bankruptcy litigators to contribute to Bankruptcy Litigation Manual. This comprehensive pocket-size handbook is the essential reference for clinicians and others serving patients with advanced or life-limiting illness. It offers up-to-date, relevant, and highly practical guidance to expertly meet the challenges of serving these patients and their families. This user-friendly manual emphasizes the importance of honoring patients' wishes throughout their medical journey while meeting their whole-person, often complex needs—from symptom management to attending to spiritual and emotional suffering—and always acknowledges the context of patients' lives, including the needs of loved ones supporting them. The layout makes finding information quick and easy, with alphabetically organized chapter headings and a detailed index. Organ-system-based chapters offer disease-specific, goals-of-care discussion guidance and reviews of etiology, signs and symptoms, assessment, and management—including standard treatment as well as palliative options. Other chapters cover communication with patients and families, consultation with colleagues, and code status discussions, along with valuable subjects such as withdrawing life support, ethics, spirituality, physician-assisted death, and palliative options of last resort. Readers will find practical management strategies for symptoms such as pain, nausea, dyspnea, and delirium. In addition, chapters on opioid use and dosing, and pharmacology of commonly used palliative medications, make this guide an invaluable resource.

The new Nikon D7200 camera was released to the public on early 2015 and has been deemed a high-end APS-C camera. It has been referred to as the only DX formatted camera currently available on the market and a marginal improvement to the earlier D7100 model. The Nikon Corporation has made every effort to have the device available globally; expanding its reach to users in every area and with every photographic need imaginable. The D7200 has retained the height, weight and dimensions of earlier models in the line but boasts a number of the improved features that include an enhanced internal process, wireless connectivity and video shooting capabilities. Also included in the features offered by this latest piece of technology is a CMOS sensor with twenty-four point two resolution, a 1.5 times focal-length multiplier, an improved Auto-focus system in the form of the multi-CAM 3500DX II 51 point system with sensitivity of between -3 and -19EV, NFC capabilities, shutter durability of up to 150,000 cycles, wireless flash and improved battery life to sufficiently captured approximately 1,100 shots. The magnesium alloy coated D7200 camera ensures longevity of the new equipment. It is also able to capture shots continuously at approximately 6 frames per second and is equipped with shutter speed capabilities exceeding 1/8000 per second, slot to accommodate two SDXC memory cards and a three point two inch LCD display. The display is designed to include 921,600 dots of resolution and metering sensor. Optical coverage for the D7200 camera is 100%; with the viewfinder offering magnification of 0.94 x 0.63. This aim of this manual is provide users with the pertinent information on setting up and maximizing the features offered by the device. It will identify and elaborate on each feature; effectively expanding the wealth of knowledge that will be available to the D7200 user. History of Nikon Corporation Nikon Corporation is a multinational corporation established in July of 1917 in Tokyo, Japan. The current headquarters for this renowned entity is located Shinagawa in Tokyo, Japan and is believed, as at March 2011, to have approximately 25,000 members of staff in its global employ. The corporation, when first established, was a combination of three of Japan's leading optical manufactures. It was first known as Nippon Kogyo Kabushiki gaisha or Japan Optical Industries Corporation. Name changes followed in 1946 to Nikon and later to the Nikon Corporation in 1988, after the creation and release of its small-sized cameras. Intending to dominate the market from its foundation, the corporation initiated the engineering of optical glass in 1918, marketed its MIKRON 4x and 6x binoculars in 1921 and its JOICO microscope shortly thereafter in 1925. The JOICO was the first ever developed telescope by Nikon and bears the name of the company's first initials. In 1932, the brand name NIKKOR was adopted for the cameras lenses being designed and released globally. The development of cameras followed shortly thereafter with the release of its first small-sized camera; named the Nikon Model 1 in 1948. The company continued its growth; being listed on the Tokyo and Osaka stock exchanges in 1949 and being lauded by the New York Times for its impressive Nikon cameras and NIKKOR lenses in 1950. This global introduction later resulted in the establishment of a NIKKOR club in 152 and the Nikon Optical Co. Inc.; now using the named Nippon Kogaku (U.S.A) Inc. in the United States in 1953. Nikon divisions were later established in Switzerland, the Netherlands, Canada, China, Poland, Thailand, Dubai, Brazil and the United Kingdom; extending the reach of this innovative company. Since its inception, almost a century ago, Nikon continues to revolutionize the field and is now responsible for the production of imaging and optical products globally.

This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1907 edition. Excerpt: blank aces or let a whole strong suit go to do it. The dealer is not going to lead your strong suit after the trumps are out, but most likely the suit in which you have only one honor. Even three to the ten may stop a whole suit and save three or four tricks, and the number of tricks that are lost by unguarding queens and jacks will run up into the thousands in a year at any bridge club. Discard Strength Always. This is the best discard for the beginner, in fact for the general run of players. We are speaking now of the play against a declared trump, remember, and even if the make is a protective one in spades, it is best to assume that the dealer and his partner have the strong trump hands, and as six or seven tricks will certainly fall to the trumps, there is little or no hope of making anything but the best cards in your long suit, so that you can well afford to throw the small ones away. The discard from strength has the additional advantage that it tells your partner at once what your best protected suit is. Some players insist that if the eldest hand has led one suit and the dealer leads the trumps, there are only two suits to hear from, and if the discard is made from weakness in one of them, the other must be the strong suit, and that it is not necessary to waste any of your strong suit in the discard, just to show it. This sounds well, but it will not fit all cases. Suppose the dealer does not lead the trumps, but starts a suit, so as to get dummy in, and then dummy goes to trumps and you have to discard. How are you going to show that the suit which the dealer led is your suit? Even if your partner has gone over the make, you should still discard your strong suit. Your partner is strong in trumps, of course, but he must have a
