The 2015 edition incorporates the amendments to Title 28 signed into law through May 2015, including both sessions of the 113th Congress. Footnotes and (for important revision) textual notes flag substantive changes in the Code since the book's initial appearance in 2005. This feature, unique to this Code Supplement, enables teachers as well as students to trace the evolution of the Code over a period of years. This Supplement can be used with any Federal Courts casebook. The 2015 edition includes the important changes adopted by the 112th Congress in 2011 and 2012. These changes were the product of four separate enactments:; the "Holmes Group fix" that was part of the Leahy-Smith America Invents Act; the Removal Clarification Act of 2011; a removal provision enacted as part of a defense authorization act; and, most important, the Federal Courts Jurisdiction and Venue Clarification Act of 2011 (JVCA). • The "Holmes Group fix" added a new removal provision (§ 1454) to Chapter 89 and revised §§ 1338 and 1295 (a). • The Removal Clarification Act dealt solely with removals under 28 U.S.C. § 1442, the federal officer removal statute. • A little-noticed provision of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2013 further amended § 1442. This is the provision that arguably goes beyond Article III. See Chapter 2 of the 2015 Supplement to our Casebook. • The JVCA effected the most far-reaching package of revisions to the Judicial Code since the Judicial Improvements Act of 1990. It made substantial changes to the procedures governing removal based on diversity, and it entirely rewrote the provisions of Chapter 87 dealing with venue. It also revised the provisions of Title 28 that deal with alienage jurisdiction and the removal of &"separate and independent" claims. For the JVCA and other important changes to Title 28, editorial notes have been provided containing brief summaries of the revisions as well as the pre-2011 text of the Code sections affected. Also included in the 2015 edition are other revisions to Title 28 made since the start of the 109th Congress in 2005. Among the more noteworthy are the changes resulting from the Class Action Fairness Act (creating new bases for original and removal jurisdiction) and the Military Commissions Act of 2006 (limiting jurisdiction over actions for habeas corpus "filed by or on behalf of an alien detained by the United States who has been determined by the United States to have been properly detained as an enemy combatant or is awaiting such determination"). In other notable changes, Congress substantially revised the provisions on exceptions to the jurisdictional immunity of foreign states (now §§ 1605 and 1605A), and it added a new section (§ 1260) to Chapter 81 on the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. Two laws passed by Congress in 2010 and 2011 are of interest from a Federal Courts perspective. The SPEECH Act adds a new chapter (Chapter 181) to Title 28. Aimed at the problem of "libel tourism", Chapter 181 limits enforcement of foreign defamation judgments by American courts. Among other provisions, it creates a new federal defense to specified enforcement actions, whether brought in federal or state court; establishes a new basis for removal; and provides for a new kind of declaratory judgment action in federal court. Separately, Congress created a pilot program in certain United States district courts to encourage enhancement of expertise in patent cases among district judges. The law is set forth in the Appendix to Part One. Also of interest from a Federal Court's perspective is new section in Title 35 added by the America Invents Act of 2011 - a provision on joinder in patent cases that effectively repeals, for patent cases, the rules on joinder and consolidation in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The new statute is included in Part II of this Supplement.

This supplement provides a compact and concise compendium of all of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure currently in effect, including references to pending amendments to these rules for that will take effect on December 1, 2020 (assuming the amendments are approved by the Supreme Court and not blocked by Congress). It also includes the U.S. Constitution and key provisions of Title 28 of the United States Code. The book's small size and text that is limited to the body of rules and statutes make it a convenient resource for students in civil procedure and complex litigation courses who need quick and easy access to relevant statutory provisions during class or for their studies or exams.

The Model Rules of Professional Conduct provides an up-to-date resource for information on legal ethics. Federal, state and local courts in all jurisdictions look to the Rules for guidance in solving lawyer malpractice cases, disciplinary actions, disqualification issues, sanctions questions and much more. In this volume, black-letter Rules of Professional Conduct are followed by numbered Comments that explain each Rule's purpose and provide suggestions for its practical application. The Rules will help you identify proper conduct in a variety of given situations, review those instances where discretionary action is possible, and define the nature of the relationship between you and your clients, colleagues and the courts.

This Document Supplement contains the text of the current federal rules of evidence, as well as the legislative history of those rules, including the Advisory Committee Notes as well as excerpts from congressional committee reports. In addition, it contains the text and legislative history of rules and amendments that were recommended by the Supreme Court but rejected by Congress. Furthermore, it contains the text and Advisory Committee Notes for proposed amendments to federal rules of evidence 404, 408, 606, and 609. While designed primarily for use as a Document Supplement to Evidence: Problems, Cases and Materials, it can be used to supplement any evidence textbook, and is also useful to practitioners in need of an up-to-date copy of the federal rules of evidence.
